FOREWORD

My object in writing this little manuscript is to keep in remembrance the traditions of our ancestors, and to convey to those that shall come after us the hardships, trials and disappointments encountered while in Scotland and in Ireland, and in making a settlement in America.

I am indebted to my grandmother, my father, Mrs. Morison, John Todd, Leonard Morison, Ezra Stearns, R. C. Mack, James Miltemore, my uncle, William Moore, my nephew, William Moore, Mrs. Bancroft, and Mrs. Austin (daughter of John Moore, my grandfather's brother.)

Geo W Moore

We also wish to express our sincere gratitude to each one who has so kindly assisted us in collecting data that we might finish as far as possible the book begun by George W. Moore.

CHAPTER I

John Moor <sup>(1)</sup>, the progenitor of our race of Moore's was born in the county of Argyle, Scotland in 1648. He belonged to the Clan of MacDonald of Glencoe.

In the Revolution of 1688, it was some time before all the Scottish Chiefs submitted and took the oath of allegiance to the new government. In 1691, King William issued a proclamation offering amnesty to all the chiefs and their clans who would take the oath of allegiance before Dec. 31, 1691. All the chiefs submitted within the time except MacDonald of Glencoe, and he on Dec. 31, 1691 appeared at Fort William but could not find a magistrate to administer the oath. MacDonald took the oath Jan. 6, 1692, six days after the time given in William's proclamation. Orders were given to destroy MacDonald and the entire clan.

One hundred and twenty soldiers were sent to occupy Glencoe, professing peace and friendship. They were received with the kindest hospitality. On the evening of February 12, 1692, after their entertainment at the MacDonald home, an attack was made upon MacDonald. He was shot through the head, and his family murdered, and the inhabitants of all ages were cruelly massacred. More than forty were killed.

In this infamous massacre, John Moore <sup>(1)</sup>, our progenitor, was shot dead in his garden. His wife, finding him dead, covered his body with a sheet, and fled to a malt-kiln for safety. That night she was delivered of a son, the John Moor <sup>(2)</sup>, who was among the early settlers of Londonderry, New Hampshire. Mrs. Moor had two daughters, Elizabeth and Beatrix, whom she left in the care of a servant while she fled for safety. She remained in the malt kiln three days, when she took her young son and returned to her house. She found the body of her husband had been taken away, and the daughters and servant had gone, and the house deserted and she alone with her babe.

Her husband's brother, Samuel Moor, with most of her family relatives, had removed some time before this event, to Antrim Co., Ireland. By the help of friends, she joined her relatives in Ireland. Two years later, the servant brought the two daughters to her.

Our forefathers in Scotland were Presbyterians, but were obliged to worship in form according to regulations of the established church of England. They looked to America as the only place where they could worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience.

On March 26, 1718, I find two hundred from the North of Ireland signed a memorial to Samuel Shute, Governor of Massachusetts to assure his excellency of their sincere and hearty inclination to transport themselves to that very excellent and renowned plantation, upon their receiving from his excellency suitable encouragement. Among the signers of this memorial I find the names of John Moor <sup>(2)</sup>, Samuel Moor <sup>(1)</sup>, and William Cochran, afterwards the father-in-law of John Moor <sup>(2)</sup>. Gov. Shute promised the memorialists a township twelve miles square of the unoccupied lands in New England, and sixteen families made immediate preparation to leave Ireland for America, arriving in Boston, August, 1718. These emigrants did not make the selection of their lands until April 11, 1719.

When the news of their settlement reached Ireland, many families prepared to leave for America. It was agreed that the Moor's and their relatives should leave Ireland in company and settle together.

John Moor, son of Samuel Moor <sup>(1)</sup> remained in Ireland, but came to America in 1724. Samuel Moor <sup>(1)</sup> was 65 years old. Charter John <sup>(2)</sup>, (John 1) was 27. William Cochran 55, and Andrew Todd 23. These with their families left Ireland in the Spring of 1720. On their passage the vessel was captured by pirates. While in their hands, a Mrs. Wilson was delivered of her first child. Their helpless innocence so moved the pirate band that after taking most of their money, they permitted them to go on their journey, bestowing upon Mrs. Wilson some valuable presents, among which was a silk dress, a piece of which I have in my possession, given me by Mrs. Robert C. Mack of Londonderry, N. H., in 1873.

The party arrived in Boston in June, 1720, and soon after joined their friends (who had previously come from Ireland in 1718), in Nutfield, later Londonderry, now Derry, N. H.

ELIZABETH, BEATRIX, JOHN

I. Elizabeth <sup>(2)</sup> (John <sup>1</sup>) b. in Scotland. Came to Ireland in 1694, probably died there.

II. Beatrix <sup>(2)</sup> (John <sup>1</sup>) b. 1690, Glencoe, Scotland. Came to Ireland in 1694 to the home of her uncle Samuel Moor <sup>(1)</sup>, where she remained until she came to America in 1720. m. Nov. 18, 1722 to Col. Andrew Todd, who was famous in the Indian and Revolutionary Wars. He came to Peterboro, N. H., the latter part of his life, and died in the home of his daughter, Jane Miller, Sept. 15, 1777. Buried in the old cemetery a few rods west of the gate. He was progenitor of the Todds of Peterboro and surrounding towns. She died in Londonderry, N. H., previous to her husband.

III. **John Moor <sup>(2)</sup> (John <sup>1</sup>) b. Feb. 13, 1692, Glencoe, Scotland. m. April 2, 1723, Jean Cochran, d. 1741, ae. 49 years.

III. John Moor <sup>(2)</sup> (John <sup>1</sup>) b. in the malt kiln in Glencoe, Scotland, Feb. 13, 1692. Came to Ireland with his mother in 1692. Was adopted by his uncle, Samuel Moor <sup>(1)</sup>. Came to America in 1720 in company with his uncle, Samuel Moor <sup>(1)</sup>, William Cochran and Andrew Todd. He lost all his property, $2500, on his passage to America, when the ship was taken by pirates.

He with his uncle, Samuel Moor <sup>(1)</sup> and Charter William Cochran bought adjoining farms, north of and bordering on Ezekiel's Pond, in that part of Londonderry, N. H., now Derry. m. in Londonderry, April 2, 1723, to Jean Cochran.

He was a surveyor and helped to survey the town of Londonderry in the fall of 1720.

He was a successful farmer and lived on his farm 21 years. In 1736 he was chosen a deacon in the first Presbyterian Church of that town. d. in 1741, aged 49 years. The inventory of his property filed Aug. 26, 1741, was over $7,000.

The old house now standing is supposed to be the old house enlarged by his sons, William and John, as mentioned in the will following. He with Samuel Moor <sup>(1)</sup>, William Cochran and Andrew Todd, were four of the Charter Proprietors of Londonderry. As yet we are unable to know the time of the death of Charter John Moor <sup>(2)</sup>. The will was signed June 19, 1741, and approved the 26th day of August, 1741. He must have died between these two dates. There is no tombstone erected as designated in the will to his adopted father, and neither is there one at his own grave. For some reason, this provision of his will was never carried out. We know where they were buried, for space is left for his adopted father and himself, and there is one tombstone recording the death of two of his children, stating that they were children of John and Jean Moor. This space is left between the tombstone of Samuel Moor's <sup>(1)</sup> wife and the gravestone of Dea. Robert Moor, their oldest son, a few rods southerly from the northern gate of the cemetery in Londonderry, N. H.

SAMUEL MOOR <sup>(3)</sup>, Peterboro, N. H.

11. Samuel <sup>(3)</sup>, John <sup>2</sup>, John <sup>1</sup>), b. Aug. 30, 1727, Londonderry, N. H. He was fourteen years old when his father died. m. Dec. 31, 1751, Margaret Morison, and settled in Peterboro, N. H. on the farm that was afterwards known as the Spring farm, in the northwest part of the town. In 1779, he sold his farm to Dr. Marshall Spring and began a new farm on "Windy Row." In 1753 on account of the danger from the French and Indian War, he moved back to Londonderry, and remained there till 1760. He returned to Peterboro before 1763, was one of the selectmen that year. Was chosen as a representative to a meeting held in Exeter, Dec. 21, 1775, and was the first man to represent the town in any free meeting after the commencement of the Revolution. A moderator in 1771. A deacon in the Presbyterian church, and was a vigorous opponent of Rev. Mr. Annin, and protested to the Presbytery against Mr. Annin staying longer in Peterboro. And after repeated refusals of the Presbytery to act in the case, he resigned his commission as deacon, refusing longer to serve the church under a minister he felt was unworthy of his office.

He owned two slaves, Baker and Rose. Sold Baker his freedom and provided for the support of Rose the remainder of her life.

VI. John <sup>(3)</sup> (John <sup>2</sup>, John <sup>1</sup>) b. 1735 in Londonderry, N. H. Charter John Moor willed the home farm in Derry, N. H., to his two youngest sons, William <sup>(3)</sup> and John <sup>(3)</sup>, William being 10 and John 5 years old when their father died. They lived with their mother on the old farm in Derry till about 1762 when William sold his portion to John, and m. Jane Holmes of Derry and moved to Peterboro, N. H. John married and made his home on the farm until his death in 1777. He was a hunter and trapper. In 1766 he and two others went up the St. Lawrence River and Great Lakes to Detroit, Mich., on a trapper's expedition, carrying their boats around Niagara Falls. They traded with the Indians, and returned by the same route. Were away from home two years. He was a sutler in the British Army and d. in 1777, in Connecticut. His wife was living on the old farm in Londonderry, N. H., as late as 1806, when the Turnpike was under construction.

H., and moved to Bradford, Vt. The farm they there purchased has been the home of his descendents to the present time. They built their log cabin at the foot of a hill near a spring. The new house, now standing, was built in 1802 on the top of the hill, and stands over the line in the town of West Fairlee. He was Deacon of the Congregational Church at Bradford at its foundation. At first the place was called Moortown. The bears and wolves frequented the town, making it unsafe for any one to be out after dark.

John <sup>(4)</sup> (John <sup>3</sup>, John <sup>2</sup>, John <sup>1</sup>) and his two sisters, Jane <sup>(4)</sup> and Eupheme <sup>(4)</sup> seemed to have left the old farm in Derry, N. H., and joined their brother Daniel <sup>(4)</sup> in Bradford, Vt., as early as 1810. Their mother, was living on the farm in Derry as late as 1806, an old lady then. It is presumed that at her death, the remaining children removed to Bradford or vicinity. We find in History of Bradford, 1874, page 210, that "Esq. John Underwood m. 1822, Eupheme Moor, a sister of Daniel & John Moor." Church records show John Moor a name in 1817. Jane Moor <sup>(4)</sup> m. Parker, went to Vermont. Had two children, a daughter who d. at age of 19 and a son, Washington, who graduated at Amherst College, d. about 1827.

John Moor <sup>(4)</sup> was of more than ordinary ability, a farmer. Built a large house in the town of Bradford, about two miles from the village and reared a large family, who stood well in the community for intelligence and piety. He was Justice of the Peace and a man of affairs, but the historian of Bradford says, Page 144, "The original occupants of that house and farm are now all gone, not one of the descendants left in Bradford." Esq. Moor and wife were worthy members of the Congregational Church, and peacefully passed to their final resting place at a good old age. This is a picture painted over and over again throughout New England.

John Moor <sup>(4)</sup> b. Derry, N. H., Dec. 24, 1766. m. Nov. 2, 1789, 1st w. Elizabeth Baldwin. m. 2nd w. Betsey Wells. d. 1853 near Bradford, Vt., aged 87.

CHAPTER II

SAMUEL MOOR <sup>(1)</sup>

I. Samuel Moor <sup>(1)</sup> b. 1655 in the County of Argile, Scotland, m. 1678 Mary ———. He was a brother of John Moor <sup>(1)</sup>, progenitor of our race of Moore's, who was killed at the massacre of Glencoe, 1692. In 1678 removed to Antrim Co., Ireland. Samuel and Mary emigrated to America in 1720. He was Charter proprietor in the town of Londonderry, N. H. They were both buried in the old cemetery at Londonderry, beside Charter John Moor <sup>(2)</sup> and his wife. There are no stones at the graves of Charter Samuel <sup>(1)</sup> or Charter John <sup>(2)</sup>, but the following inscription is on the stone marking the grave of Charter Samuel's wife: "Here lies Buried the Body of Mrs. Mary Moor wife of Mr. Samuel Moor who departed this life Apr. ye 8th, 1733, aged 73 years."

After the death of John Moor <sup>(2)</sup> at the massacre of Glencoe, Scotland, 1692, his widow and infant son, John <sup>(2)</sup>, took up their residence with Samuel <sup>(1)</sup> in Ireland. Two years later her two daughters, Elizabeth <sup>(2)</sup> and Beatrix <sup>(2)</sup> were brought to her. It is supposed that the widow of John Moor <sup>(1)</sup> and her daughter Elizabeth <sup>(2)</sup> died in Ireland, and the two youngest children, Beatrix <sup>(2)</sup> and John <sup>(2)</sup> were adopted by their uncle, Samuel Moor <sup>(1)</sup>, and were members of his family until after they came to America and settled in Londonderry, N. H., 1720. He probably died in 1734.

CHAPTER III.

LIEUT. WILLIAM MOOR (<sup>3</sup>), Peterboro, N. H.

THIRD SON OF CHARTER JOHN MOOR (<sup>2</sup>), DERRY, N. H.

IV. William Moor (<sup>3</sup>) (John <sup>2</sup>, John <sup>1</sup>) b. Aug. 15, 1731, Londonderry, N. H., was 10 yrs. old when his father died. The will gave him and his brother, John, the homestead in Londonderry, N. H. He served in the French and Indian Wars. Was in the campaign against Crown Point in Capt. Nathaniel Folsom's Company from Exeter, N. H. He received from the British government 100 acres of land in Londonderry, Nova Scotia, as a bounty for his services in the French and Indian Wars.

He with sixteen others went to Londonderry, Nova Scotia in 1761. He selected his land, built a log house and returned to Londonderry, N. H. in 1762. The lady who was soon to be his wife refused to go so far away from her home in Londonderry, N. H., so he traded his land in Nova Scotia with John Morison of Londonderry, N. H., for his farm of 203 acres in the town of Peterboro, N. H. Deed bears date of Dec. 14, 1762. This farm was situated in the southwest part of the town, and was Lot No. 36, marked J. Morison as shown on a map transcribed in 1787 by Hon. Jeremiah Smith. The lot was 62 rods wide and over a mile long.

Soon after his marriage Dec. 13, 1763, to Jane Holmes, b. Jan. 16, 1744, daughter of Nathaniel and Elizabeth (Moor) Holmes (<sup>3</sup>), he removed to his new home in Peterboro.

John (2), John (1) are two different branches of Moor's, John Moor (2) in one branch being a cousin of John Moor (2) in the other branch, and Elizabeth (Moor) Holmes (3), (mother of Jane Holmes 4) and William Moor (3) (husband of Jane Holmes 4) were cousins, one generation removed.

The Contoocook river divided the farm. The part east of the river, he sold to his sister, Mary, about the time of the Revolutionary War. The part west of the river, and a small portion east of the river, in all 114 acres, were held by him until his death, and has been deeded from generation to generation, and remains in the Moore family at the present time, the home of William Moore (6), and sons, Henry (7) and Herbert (7).

The first house was built, by John Morison, of logs, on the highest knoll in the low lands west of where the railroad now passes through the farm, and was standing when William Moor (3) bought the farm.

The second house was a framed house built by William Moor (3) in 1770 on the high land westerly from the log house and a few rods east of the present house. It was remodeled in 1795 by his son, Nathaniel (4). The barn was built in 1770. Both were torn down in 1880. The present house was built in 1799 by Nathaniel (4). Remodeled in 1874, and new barn built in 1877 by the present occupant, William Moor (6).

The personal characteristics of William Moor (3), were the general characteristics of that generation, dark hair, light complexion, thick set. He was 5 ft. 9 to 10 in. tall, and weighed 190 lbs. His wife, Jane Holmes Moor, was of large stature, light complexion and auburn hair. The following generations date back to her for their height, weight and color of hair.

This little incident recorded in Smith's History of Peterboro, page 111, illustrates the energy and thrift of Jane Holmes Moor (4). In September 1776, her brother, Nathaniel Holmes (4) was urged by his brother-in-law, William Moor (3) to enlist in Capt. Finley's Co., offering to make his wages equal to ten dollars per month. Holmes declined on the plea that his clothes were all worn out. His sister, hearing the conversation, said to her husband, "Billy, you furnish the shoes and I'll furnish the clothes." It was a great mystery how she could do it, as there were only two pounds of wool in the house. The next morning all their sheep were brought to the barn, and four early lambs were robbed of their fleece; and the wool was colored, spun, woven and made into clothing within twenty days, and when Capt. Finley came through the town on his way to Bennington, Vt., the young soldier was ready to join the company. The shoes were made from the leather of a saddle. He was at the Battle of White Plains. He returned safely and Moor fulfilled his promise for his wages.

Lieut. William Moor was a great admirer of Washington. The name Washington was a new name in New England, and was considered a very awkward one until the war made it famous throughout the land. On the birth of his first son, after the war commenced, he decided his name should be Washington. His wife opposed the name and mentioned William, Samuel and Robert as much more appropriate. The time came for the child to be baptized, and, as usual on such occasions, the ladies gathered around the door of the church to see the baby. Granny Duncan asked what they were going to call him. The mother replied "Washington." Mrs. Duncan said it was a pity to spoil so fine a baby with such an awkward name. The mother decided to make one more effort to prevent his name being Washington. As they were about to enter the door of the church, she put on one of her pleasant smiles, and placing her hand very affectionately upon his arm, said, "Billy, ye will not call the baby Washington, will ye?" "Indeed I will!" he replied. "If I had forty children to be baptized here today, I would call them all Washington."

The first record we have of the letter e being added to the name Moor is found in the deed given by William Moor <sup>(3)</sup> to his son, Nathaniel Moore <sup>(4)</sup>, Dec. 3, 1789.

We infer he sold his interest in the old homestead at Londonderry, N. H., to his brother, John, when he left for his home in Peterboro.

In the Revolutionary War, he served 45 days in Capt. Robb's Co. in Cambridge, Mass., and always after bore the title of Lieut.

Lieut. Moor and wife were members of the first Presbyterian Church of Peterboro. "She was a notable and eminently Christian woman and has impressed her virtues on a long line of descendants. The religious element has largely abounded in her descendants the influence of the family is everywhere moral and good." (Smith's History of Peterboro, page 171.) In 1799 sixteen members of the old Presbyterian church seceded and formed a new Congregational Church with Rev. Mr. Dunbar as pastor. Lieut. Moor <sup>(3)</sup> and his nephew, Samuel <sup>(4)</sup> were of that number. Mrs. Moor was so attached to Presbyterianism that she remained a member of the old church till her death Aug. 22, 1831, ae. 87 yrs. He d. Oct. 7, 1818, ae. 87 yrs.

Y., and was buried beside her husband in Franklinville, N. Y.

CHILDREN:

1. William Moore Wood <sup>(7)</sup> b. July 15, 1862. He gives a brief outline of his life: 'At the time of my father's death, I was 23 years of age and inexperienced. However, I took up the responsibility where he had laid it down and tried my best to fill his place to those who were left. For two years I struggled manfully to provide for the family and continue the education of the other children. In the Spring of 1887, there was an opening for me in Buffalo, N. Y., and after much consideration, I finally accepted it. We rented the farm, relieving mother of a great deal of work and worry. The next year, sold the farm, mother moving to Franklinville, where she remained till all the family graduated from the Academy. Meanwhile, I had secured a position with the L. S. & M. S. R. R. On Nov. 16, 1892, I was married to Maud Wilson, who was born Sept. 1, 1873. In 1897, I organized the Buffalo Commercial & Electro Mechanical Institute, a co-ed school, where for a number of years I prepared young men and women for college and business, and young men for engineering positions. For the past six years (now 1920), I have been connected with the Keystone Manufacturing Company in this city as Production Foreman and General System man. I have always felt a pardonable pride in my Moore ancestry. I remember well my mother's father and the wonderful Indian and slave stories he used to tell me. To my boyish mind, Grandfather was just the most wonderful man that ever lived, and now as I look back I realize that he was one of nature's noblemen. My mother showed a proper pride in the family name when she christened me William and game me "Moore" for a middle name. My family are members of the Delaware Ave., Baptist Church, Buffalo, N. Y."

CHAPTER VII

JOHN FERGUSON MOORE (5), Gillisonville, S. C.

III. John F. (5) (Nathaniel <sup>4</sup>, William <sup>3</sup>, John <sup>2</sup>, John <sup>1</sup>) b. Jan. 20, 1804, Peterboro, N. H. At the age of 11, he went to South Carolina with his uncle, John Ferguson, where he remained four years. In 1819, he returned to Peterboro, learned the carpenter's trade, and returned to Ashepoo, S. C. and worked at his trade. In 1830 he returned to New Hampshire and m. Sept. 12, 1830, Sabrina Beard of Peterboro, taking his bride to Ashepoo, S. C., where they lived for some time. He also lived at Rock Springs. He opened a store in Coosawhatchie, living there winters, that town being a very unhealthy place in summer. He was a merchant of marked integrity of character, good judgment, a high sense of justice, yet of genial and kindly nature, who held the appointment of Postmaster, but refused all elective offices. Mrs. Moore was a woman of the finest attributes, both mentally and morally; whose character and example had a most important effect in forming her children's ideals and habits of life.

About 1838, he moved to Gillisonville, S. C., and lived on a farm just outside of the village, but continued his merchandise business in the village. He accumulated a large property but lost it all during the Civil War. He d. May 15, 1871. She d. July 15, 1868.

On his return South, he attended Charleston High School.

He assisted his father in the merchandise business in Gillisonville. During the war he was in the Beaufort District Troup, Capt. Howard in command, the part of the troupe that did not go with the Hampton Legion to Virginia, but stayed on Carolina soil, as Coast Guard. m. Sept. 17, 1868, Emma Adair of Walhalla, S. C., b.   3. Brigadier General William Woodbury Moore, The Adjutant General, State of South Carolina, 1910-1921.

The subject of this sketch was born at Hendersonville, Colleton County, South Carolina, December 30th, 1868, he being the second son of Dr. Henry W. and Martha Rowell Moore. He received his preliminary education from the common schools of the County, and attended the Citadel, (S. C. Military Academy) 1884 and 1885. On leaving the Citadel at the age of seventeen years, he began work for himself as clerk in a country store. In the fall of 1887, he moved to Barnwell, S. C., where he was employed by Mr. John I. Bronson as clerk in a general mercantile store. In 1888 he went with the firm of A. P. Manville & Co., remaining with them until 1889 when this firm was succeeded by McNab, Walker & Co., and continued with them until they went out of business in 1895. He then engaged in the mercantile business on his own account, and continued same until 1901. From that period up to 1910, he was engaged as a cotton buyer and as traveling salesman for different firms. In 1910, he was elected Adjutant and Inspector General of South Carolina, filling the unexpired term of General J. C. Boyd, who died December 23, 1910. In 1912 he was re-elected Adjutant General without opposition, and again in 1914 was re-elected, defeating his opponent by more than 30,000 votes. In 1916 was again re-elected without opposition, and again in 1918 and 1920.

Ever since leaving the South Carolina Military Academy, General Moore was almost continually connected with the State Militia and the National Guard, beginning in 1889 when he was a private in the local company at Barnwell, S. C., known as the Barnwell Guard, and was afterwards First Sergeant of the Brown Guards in 1891-2 and 3. He was second Lieut. of this organization, was elected Captain of Co. E, 3rd Regiment, National Guard, S. C., May 12, 1904, resigning Feb. 16, 1907, being appointed at that time Colonel on the staff of Governor Ansel, which appointment he held for four years, when he was elected Adjutant General in 1910.

At a meeting of the National Guard Association held in St. Louis, Mo., May 5th, 1919, General Moore was appointed a member of the Executive Committee, and actively engaged in construction work of formulating a military policy for the future development of the National Guard of the United States.

General Moore's untiring efforts and zeal in behalf of the reorganization of the National Guard of this country was excelled by none, and he devoted every available moment of his time towards the procurement of such legislation as would in the future provide the proper consideration for the development of this branch of the military service. General Moore occupied a very unique position with the Adjutant's General of the several States, South Carolina being the only State in the Union that elects its Adjutant General by a popular vote, he being the first Adjutant General who has ever served more than two terms. During the factional political fight for mayor in Charleston, October, 1915, General Moore was called home from the National Rifle Matches being held at Jacksonville, Fla., by the Governor who directed him to proceed to Charleston and take command of the battalion of National Guard and Naval Militia during the political contest. The feeling between the two factions had grown intensely, and it was through General Moore's caution and firmness largely that an open clash was prevented between the two parties at issue. He occupied during this period a strictly non-partisan attitude, insisting that it be clearly understood by both of the contestants that any violation of the law which would precipitate riot and bloodshed would be dealt with by the military authorities without favoritism or fear of the resultant consequences. His attitude and firm demeanor in handling this situation, prevented bloodshed and serious trouble.

Since 1915 General Moore exhibited a keen interest in rifle practice, having qualified as a sharpshooter during the competitive matches held on the Rifle Range at Camp Moore in August of that year. His score was only four points below that of the expert, and during the National Matches held at Jacksonville, Fla., in the Fall of that year, he made a record that would have entitled him to qualification as expert. After that period, General Moore won the Adjutant General's trophy at Camp Black Point, Jacksonville, Fla., 1916; Camp Perry, Ohio, 1918, and Navy Rifle Range, Caldwell, N. J., 1919, being three consecutive years that this trophy was won by General Moore, which entitled him to permanent ownership thereof.

General Moore was married (1st) to Marie Louise Peeples, youngest daughter of Captain W. B. and Cathrine Peeples, Barnwell, S. C., November 5, 1890. She died September, 1899. Through this union were born four children, the first and fourth dying in infancy.

On October 31, 1900, General Moore was married to Florella Maynardie Saunders, who was born August 23, 1869, in Chester, S. C., being the eldest daughter of Captain Thomas M. and Ada Saunders. From this union, no children were born.

One of the greatest disappointments in the General's later years was that his physical condition would not permit him to enter the army and participate in the World War. A diabetic trouble and an operation to remove a carbuncle from his neck, resulted in his death June 16, 1921, at Columbia Hospital. On the following Sabbath, services were held at the home and the body was taken to Barnwell, the old home town, where further services were held and burial was in the family lot in the Baptist cemetery. The National Guard escort of honor, including two men from every National Guard unit in the State, the Governor and other state officials, acting as honorary pall bearers, accompanied the body from Columbia to Barnwell. General Moore was for eleven years Adjutant General, and thirty-two years a member of the militia.

CHILDREN:

Catherine (<sup>8</sup>), the second child, born November 24, 1893, educated in the Barnwell High School, a graduate of Winthrop College, 1914, was married to the Rev. W. E. Davis, August 1, 1917, at Columbia, S. C. Now resides at Clemson College, S. C.

James Tillinghast Moore(<sup>8</sup>), the third child, was born September 5, 1895; graduated at the Barnwell High School, 1912; graduated at South Carolina Military Academy (The Citadel), Charleston, S. C., June 15, 1916. He was called into the service June 19, 1916 as a member of the Washington Light Infantry, Second Regiment, South Carolina National Guard; was promoted to Second Lieutenant Machine Gun Company, Second Infantry, June 21, 1916. Resigned to accept a commission in the United States Marine Corps, September 29, 1916; assigned to duty in the Dominica Republic, Nov. 1, 1916; was promoted to First Lieutenant and assigned to command the 48th Company, United States Marines, Lavega, D. R., May 23, 1917; promoted to Captain, United States Marine Corps, May 24, 1917, and promoted to Major U. S. Marine Corps, July 1, 1918. He held this commission until August 1, 1919, when the Marine Corps being reduced to a number required during the war, made it necessary for his demotion to a permanent Captain, which he now holds. On May 14, 1919, he returned from duty in the Dominica Republic, and was assigned to temporary duty at Marine Headquarters at Quantico, Va., with a temporary assignment Navy Rifle Range, Caldwell, N. J., from the latter part of July to September 1, 1919, when he returned to Quantico, remaining there until Nov. 7, 1919, when he received orders to proceed to France for duty with Marine Battalion, located at Brest, sailing from New York, Nov. 19, 1919.

Captain Moore's record in the Marine Corps has been enviable, especially in the promotion of rifle practice, he having qualified the 48th Company in 1917, as the highest figure of merit of any company in the whole Corps, and in 1918 qualifying every man in his company, having only two marksmen, eleven sharpshooters, and sixty-eight experts, with an increase of figure of merit over 1917 of 107 points, his company being beaten by the 94th Company by only two points.

GEN. JAMES W. MOORE <sup>(6)</sup>, Hampton, S. C.

IV. James Washington <sup>(6)</sup> b. Feb. 25, 1837, Coosawhatchie, S. C., attended the Beaufort District Academy at Gillisonville for his preparatory work for college; and in 1856 he was graduated with the degree of A. B. from the University of Georgia, receiving in 1859 the degree of A. M. from the same university.

Admitted to the bar, he began the practice of law at Gillisonville, in January, 1859. His life was spent in the practice of his profession and in the service of his state and county as a legislator, except the four years of the War between the States.

In 1861 he enlisted in the Hampton legion as first sergeant of the Beaufort District troops. In 1862 he was elected second lieutenant of Company C, and the same day was appointed adjutant of the cavalry of the legion, afterwards known as the Second South Carolina cavalry. He took part in all the important engagements in which the legion had a share, and at Brandy Station he received a severe wound, by which he was disabled for two months; but he returned to the regiment and remained with it until the close of the war.

On May 13, 1868, he was married to Cornelia Elizabeth Tillinghast, daughter of Hon. R. L. Tillinghast, a lawyer of repute and state senator. She was born May 8, 1841; d. July 4, 1912. A noble wife and mother.

In his professional work, Mr. Moore rapidly won clients. He was counsel for Hampton county for 25 years, was the local counsel for the Southern Railway, for the Seaboard Air Line Railway Co., and for the Charleston & Western Carolina Railway Co.

He was a loyal member of the Democratic party, and was Chairman of the State Democratic committee in the campaigns of 1886 and 1888. He was a delegate to the National Democratic convention in Chicago when Cleveland was first nominated for the presidency.

The people of his town and county often honored him by election to office. He served as commissioner of the poor, as commissioner of public buildings, as magistrate, and in 1866, immediately after the war, as member of the South Carolina House of Representatives. In 1878, he was elected State Senator to represent Hampton county; and, re-elected three times, he served for sixteen years consecutively until 1894. In 1900 he was again elected to the senate to fill out the unexpired term of a senator who died in 1900.

He also served as brigadier-general and later as major-general of the State militia, and as chairman of the military committee of the Senate; and was a state delegate to the Yorktown centennial.

His church relations were with the Presbyterian Church. He d. Dec. 27, 1912. His one rule in life was: "Be faithful, honest and truthful in the discharge of all duties. Work steadily for what you are trying to achieve, and expect nothing without laboring for it."

NATHANIEL HOLMES MOORE <sup>(5)</sup> Peterboro, N. H.
4th son of Nathaniel <sup>(4)</sup>

IV. Nathaniel H. <sup>(5)</sup> (Nathaniel <sup>4</sup>, William <sup>3</sup>, John <sup>2</sup>, John <sup>1</sup>) b. Nov. 18, 1805, Peterboro, N. H. Succeeded his father on the Old Homestead purchased by his grandfather in 1763. m. Dec. 1, 1831, Bithiah Hunt, dau. Dea. Timothy Hunt, b. June 3, 1807. He was a school teacher, and later was superintending school committee. For forty-five years a deacon in the Presbyterian church, and in the present Union Congregational Church. The following is taken from the church records:

"On the 18th of Nov. 1875, Dea. N. H. Moore on his seventieth birthday tendered his resignation as an officer of the Church, having held the same nearly forty years. At the communion service on Jan. 2d, 1876, the brethren associated with him presented the following for the consideration of the church: viz. 'That we very much regret that our Beloved Brother has felt inclined to take this step, but trust the church may in the future as in the past enjoy his wise council and Christian spirit. And we hereby cordially express our due appreciation of his long continued services and gratefully acknowledge the cheerful and christian spirit with which under God he has ever borne the burdens of the church.'"

Prof. Holmes in his sesqui-centennial address in Peterboro, 1889, says, alluding to Dea. Moore, "You all know how well our venerable fellow citizen here has exemplified, through his long life, the virtues, the patriotism and the faith of his ancestors, who believed in the language of their day and generation in the resurrection of the body by the almighty power of God."

He never allowed anything short of illness or imperative necessity to prevent his attendance upon divine service whether upon the Sabbath or upon the day appointed for the weekly prayer meeting. To the last his mind was peaceful, and his last words attest his perfect resignation and trust. "If it be God's will, I will wait a little longer; if it is His will I go now, I am ready. My only hope is in Christ."

d. Dec. 12, 1890, ae. 85 yrs. Mrs. Moore d. Aug. 16, 1893, ae. 86 yrs. There was a remarkable bond of union between this aged couple in their religious life.

Dec. 1, 1881, they celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary, as did his father and grandfather on the same farm.

THE PETERBORO HOMESTEAD AT THE PRESENT TIME

He belonged to the only family in Peterboro which has continuously occupied one homestead since the first settlement, and is now (1919) occupied by William, his only surviving son.

CHAPTER IX.

In 1834 at the age of twenty, he, with three other young men, started to find their homes in the wilderness of the then far away Western country. They traveled by stage to Albany. There they took a boat on the Erie Canal to Buffalo. Thence by boat on Lake Erie to Detroit, Mich. Then on foot to his uncle's, William Moore in Washtenaw Co. With his uncle for guide they started in search of land. They traveled three days and coming upon land that was thickly timbered with a variety of trees, decided that land would be good land, and started at once for the land office at Monroe. When they had reached Monroe and purchased their land, they found they had traveled sixty miles on foot in twenty four hours. He returned to Peterboro and worked for two years in the machine shop for his brother. Two of the party returned to the land they had purchased and commenced the first white man's settlement in the town of Medina, Mich., on the 28th day of May, 1834. The Indians were not removed to Indian Territory until 1838-9.

In 1836 he returned to his Michigan land, cleared a few acres, built him a log cabin. Returned to Peterboro where he m. 1st w. Aug. 29, 1837, Caroline Morison, dau. Nathaniel and Mary Ann (Hopkins) Morison, b. June 20, 1813. Mrs. Moore bravely bore the hardships and trials of pioneer life for nearly twelve years. d. March 17, 1849.

In the Fall of 1849, he left his three small children in the care of his brother Thomas and wife, and started for California, going round Cape Horn. His brother-in-law, Samuel Morison, was a merchant in San Francisco. Making that city his home, he teamed into the mines, carrying supplies to the mines. He returned in 1851, crossing the Isthmus of Panama. March 4th, 1852 m. 2nd w. Harriet P. Bigelow, dau. Daniel and Betsey (Knight) Bigelow, Barre, N. Y., b. b. Dec. 29, 1821. d. Apr. 15, 1880; m. 3rd w. Apr. 6, 1882, Althea Bordwell, b. Aug. 20, 1824. d. Apr. 30, 1896.

He furnished much data for Smith's History of Peterboro, wrote many articles of Pioneer History, and was many years compiling this Moore genealogy. He had a remarkable memory for dates and names. He was a man of sterling worth, a true friend, a charter member of the first Congregational Church of Canandaigua, Mich. In politics he was a staunch Democrat. At his death he was the last one in the town of Medina holding the deed given for land purchased of the Government bearing the signature of Gen Andrew Jackson. d. July 21, 1899.

Was a prisoner at Libby Prison, Richmond, Va., and at Columbia, S. C. Was exchanged May 1862. Enlisted again, receiving a Captain's commission and served in the West in the 18th Michigan until the close of the war.

When the 18th Michigan regiment was stationed at Nashville, Tenn., Andrew Johnson, Military Governor of the State, offered Capt. Moore the Colonelcy of a Tenn. regiment, which he declined because he had promised his company when he enlisted them that he would stay with them till they were discharged.

At Decatur, Ala., when invested by Confederate troops, Gen. Granger ordered him to take a company of sixty men and charge between lines of the two armies and clear out the rifle pits of the enemy which he did, and with the aid of the artillery, took one hundred and twenty-seven prisoners.

Was drowned while crossing Cold River, Indian Territory, May 7, 1866.

HISTORY OF A HORSE

Old Kate Kearney, the old army horse captured by Capt. William C. Moore, of the 18th Michigan Infantry, in Alabama in January, 1865, died upon the farm of George W. Moore of Medina, Mich., in the 28th year of her age.

Quite a romantic history is connected with Old Kate. She was raised at Huntsville, Alabama, and at the age of three years won the first prize for speed upon the course at Huntsville. On the marriage of Dr. Davis of Huntsville, Kate was given to Mrs. Davis by her father. The Spring of 1862 found Dr. Davis with a major's commission in General Forest's cavalry, with his wife's favorite horse. Old Kate served the Confederacy faithfully for three years, and Major Davis said she carried him more than 12,000 miles. In January, 1865, Capt. Moore with his company were stationed at Whitesboro, Alabama, to guard a ford on the Tennessee River. Gen. Forest was encamped on the opposite side of the river, with 2000 men, seven miles from Whitesboro, Moore, by permission of Gen. Granger, had been allowed to cross the river and had captured a large number of horses. In one of these expeditions, he came near the encampment of Gen. Forest, and discovered three officers entering a house in which was a Post Office. They captured the three men and their horses, and before an alarm could be given, the party were safe on the North side of the river. Maj. Davis, and his wife's favorite horse, was among the captured. Capt. Moore afterwards purchased Old Kate of the U. S. Government, and when the regiment returned to Michigan, Old Kate came with them.

Capt. Moore left home for Texas in Oct. 1865. He requested that if he did not return, Kate should not be put to hard work but should remain on the farm during her life. She had been on the "retired list" for some years and tenderly cared for in her old age. In 1865 she drew first premium at the Michigan State Fair as the best trained cavalry horse. In 1866 she with one of her colts drew first premium. At her death, nine of her descendants were on the farm.

Mr. Smith was a very lovable man. The writer never heard of his losing his temper but once,—that was when the minister, Mr. Annan, found fault with his wife, who was Mr. Smith's sister. Mr. Smith seized a hop pole and belabored him over the head right and left. He was the peacemaker of his part of the town. Always spoken of as "Uncle Billy." school children knew him by no other name than "Uncle Billy." His father, John Smith, was one of the original settlers of the town, and the first settler on the Smith farm of 500 acres. "Uncle Billy" had three wives and reared a large family of 13 children. Was prosperous financially and stood well as a citizen. Yet so great had been the ravages of accident and disease, he had no son who could afford financially to come home. He sold the farm and with his wife spent their declining years in the town of Jaffrey, with his daughter, Mrs. Russell.

Oct. 3, 1833 to Alvenah Baggerly, when he went on to a farm of his own. Soon after he felt called to preach the gospel. He began a preparatory course of study with Elder Barrett of Mooreville, preaching in school houses whenever there was an opportunity. His whole public life was closely identified with the enterprises of the Baptist Church, local and general. He was baptized in Phelps, N. Y. when about 16 years old. His first labors as pastor were given to the church in Tecumseh, Mich., where he was ordained in 1835. Then to Ypsilanti and Marshall, going out into the country organizing societies and building houses of worship at Ceresco, Marengo and Albion. In 1857, he left Marshall for Lansing, where he found a small, weak church without a house of worship. The first Baptist Church of the capitol city, and ten others in the State were built by him. His eyesight failing him, made it necessary for him to give up his pastorate. Kalamazoo College called him to help them through a financial embarrassment. He accepted the call, but his health failing, he was compelled to give up his work and retire to his farm, where he was tenderly cared for by his 2nd w., Angelina Thomas, b. ## WILLIAM A. MOORE

Life and our religion teach us that man brings nothing into this life and takes nothing away with him. It is most fortunate for those remaining that he cannot take with him his record on earth and the memories of his friends.

William A. Moore was born near Clifton Springs, New York in 1823 and came to Michigan with his father in 1831, locating on a farm in Washtenaw County. From that time he had all the privileges which come to a boy brought up under the influence of a quiet, peaceful, healthful, hard working life on a farm. He early decided to obtain an education and fit himself for a useful life. He earned the money with which to prosecute his studies and graduated from the University of Michigan in 1850. After leaving the University he taught school in Mississippi for a year, then returned north and settled in Detroit in 1852 where he lived until he died in 1906 at the age of eighty-three.

Mr. Moore possessed a strong, virilant character, with a full appreciation of the rights of his fellow men. He was a hard worker, a diligent student and soon established a reputation as an able, fair and honest lawyer. He was a politician in the best sense of the word, never seeking or holding an office except that of United States Marshal, to which he was appointed soon after coming to Detroit. He believed in a representative form of government, and that it was the duty of every man to take an interest in politics. He was active in city affairs; was chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee and the Michigan representative on the National Democratic Committee for eight years. He was a member of the Board of Education four years, and during that time its president for three and one-half years. He was active in the business interests in the city; was one of the organizers and a director and general counsel of the Detroit Fire and Marine Insurance Company, the largest insurance company in the state, finally becoming its president, which office he held at the time of his death. His religious convictions were positive. He was a true Baptist and a Trustee of the Woodward Avenue Baptist Church. Mr. Moore left memories which were an inspiration to his descendants, his friends and those who knew him.

IN MEMORIAM

"Woodward Avenue Baptist Church sits startled, almost stunned, today by the sudden death of Henry L. Jenness, Chairman of our Board of Trustees; Treasurer of the Church; for years Chief Usher; loyal friend; noble Christian; influential citizen. For more than a quarter of a century he went in and out of this Church, leaving behind a beautiful benediction, carrying out into the world a glorious life. Sacrifice for the people of God became his joy. Nothing was too arduous to do for the church he loved so dearly. He is gone from us, but his coronation has come. We rejoice that we were privileged to travel even for a few brief years along life's journey with him."

THE MOORE FAMILY.

The ancestors of this important family can be traced back to Scotland. In the Revolution of 1688, it was sometime before all the Scottish chiefs submitted and took the oath of allegiance to the new government. In 1691, King William issued a proclamation offering amnesty to all the chiefs and their clans who would take the oath of allegiance before December 31. All of them submitted within the prescribed time, except the aged MacIain, or MacDonald, of Glencoe. On the 31st he appeared at Fort William to take the oath, but the officer in command not being a magistrate, he could not administer it. MacDonald made his way as speedily as the travelling and the condition of the country would admit to Iveray, where he took the oath, Jan. 6, 1692. His allegiance happened a few days later than the time required by the proclamation, and he was represented by three great Scottish chiefs, who had been his hereditary enemies, and who were determined to avail themselves of this unintentional delay for the destruction of the tribe of MacDonald, to William as not having submitted, and dwelling in a valley with a tribe no better than a band of robbers, and as being the only remaining obstacle to a complete pacification of the highlands. An order was issued for their extirpation. It was executed with horrible treachery and cruelty. A body of one hundred and twenty soldiers was sent, Feb. 1, 1692, commanded by Campbell, of Glenlyon, to occupy Glencoe. They came professing peace and friendship, and were received with the kindest hospitality, and for a fortnight lived at free quarters in the utmost familiarity with the people. On the evening of the 12th February, after the kindest entertainment at the MacDonald house, the playing cards with him and his family, an attack was made upon the chieftain; he was shot through the head, his family murdered, and the inhabitants of all ages cruelly massacred, with the intention, no doubt, to slaughter the whole tribe. Forty were actually murdered. The inclemency of the weather was such that the detachment of soldiers sent to guard the outlets of the valley did not arrive in season, so that most of the inhabitants, alarmed by the report of fire-arms, made their escape, not without many perishing with cold and hunger. No punishment was inflicted on the author of this crime.

A graphic account of the massacre of Glencoe is given by Macaulay in his History of England, Vol. 4, and Campbell has made it a subject of a poem, "The Pilgrim of Glencoe." A writer in Blackwood's Magazine, July, 1859, accuses Macaulay of partiality in his account of Glencoe, and charges the responsibility of the massacre on William III., acquitting him, however, of any intention of sanctioning treachery and breach of hospitality.*

In this infamous massacre of Glencoe, John Moore, the progenitor of the race that came to this town, was shot dead in his garden. He was the father of two daughters, whose lives were saved by a servant who took care of them, and safely re. them from the country. One of them, Beatrix Moore, married Col. Andrew Todd, afterwards so famous in our colonial history. Mrs. Moore, finding her husband dead, after covering his body with a sheet, fled to a malt-kiln for safety, and during that night was delivered of a son, the John Moore who was one of the first settlers of Londonderry. She subsequently escaped safely, and took up her residence in or near Londonderry, Ireland, and here fortuitously met with her two daughters. In 1718 John Moore, her son, was among the emigrants in the five ships that came to America this year. He was with those under the charge of Rev. Mr. McGregor, who, with one of the ships, entered Casco Bay, intending to settle in that region, but who, having endured the hardships of a very severe winter, and not being satisfied with the land on the appearance of spring, they returned to Haverhill, and from thence made their first settlement in Nutfield, or Londonderry. He m. Janet Cochran, and left a family of four sons and three daughters: Robert, Samuel, William, John, and Agnes, Mary, and Ann. Of these, Samuel and William re. to Peterborough, and were patriotic and loyal men; while John and Robert remained in Londonderry, and were both reported as refusing to sign the Association Test, in April, 1776. John became a professed Tory, and Robert remained and d. in Londonderry. The old house is still standing in which John Moore lived, situated on the turnpike, about two miles south of the village of Derry; also the old well, and a huge elm planted by his own hands. For a time he was the king's surveyor of the town. He d. early in 1741, æ. 49 yrs.

I SAMUEL MOORE (Dea.) came to town from Londonderry about 1751 or '52, in company with Samuel Todd, and they fixed upon a plot of land situated in the west part of the town, lying on the Dublin line, extending over the river and embracing the meadows. They purchased the same of the proprietors, John Fowle, John Hill, and William Gridley for a crown an acre.* By deed of Nov. 15, 1753, they held it in common ten years before they divided. When the division was made, Dea. Moore took the westerly part, and Samuel Todd the easterly, which occurred but a short time before Todd was killed by the falling of a tree. Dea. Moore lived on what was afterwards known as the "Spring place." He built a house here, long since demolished, and the site deserted. In 1779, he sold this place to Dr. Marshall Spring, and then began a new one just east of the Todd farm, since occupied by Benjamin and Jonathan Mitchell, where both he and his wife died.

After the birth of his first child, John Moore, Nov. 5, 1753, probably on account of apprehended danger of the
